There will be eighteen varieties of surplus products available, Superintendent Moseley reported.

Sherwood Day Wins Chevrolet Car In Contest

SHERWOOD DAY.

Sherwood Day won a new 1941 Chevrolet Master Deluxe sedan offered by the Cities Service Oil Company to the dealer handling their products whose ratio of sales of gasoline to Acme Tires and Batteries was the largest for the two month period from April 26 to June 25 of this year. Following are excerpts from a letter just received from J. L. Bachman, District Supervisor of the Cities Service Oil Company, at Sherman.

"This first prize was offered on a ratio basis of gasoline to Acme Tire and Battery sales, and Mr. Day, who has always been a very aggressive dealer of this company, had the highest average on a ratio basis of Acme Tires and Batteries to Gasoline of any other dealer in the entire organization, and was awarded this first prize of the Chevrolet Master Deluxe Sedan.

"I personally was mighty glad to see this prize come to Texas and to Mr. Day in McKinney, as he really did some good work during this campaign, and due to his many good friends and satisfied customers in this area caused him to win this distinguished honor."

JAYCEES DISCUSS PLANS TO ORGANIZE FOOTBALL TEAMS IN WARD SCHOOLS OF CITY

Future football players of the McKinney High School, students in ward schools of the city, are expected to be organized into teams representing each of the four ward schools in McKinney to compete for an award or trophy which will be offered the winning team by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Plans to sponsor a grid team of youngsters in each ward school in the city were discussed at the semi-monthly luncheon of the McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon at Woods Cafe, with President Marvin Collins presiding.

A Committee, composed of Jack Warden, Chairman; F. J. Ross and Earl Walker, was named by President Collins, to work with Coach J. W. (Swede) McMurry and other school officials in helping these boys organize, secure them footballs and any other needed equipment, and to help organize the youths into teams.

Many other Texas cities have long sponsored grid leagues in ward schools, for a two-fold purpose; To help develop the youths physically, teaching them teamwork; and also to teach them the fundamentals of football, which will stand them in good stead when they enter High School and go out for the team. With one or more year's training in the sport, they will develop into players on the High School more quickly, thereby aiding the Coaches.

Coach McMurry, who attended the Jaycee meeting, spoke favorably of the plan, which he said would help improve McKinney High grid teams in the future years.

Legislators Are Considering Road Bond Assumption

Both Houses of the State Legislature convened in special session Wednesday morning, responding to the call of Governor Coke Stevenson.

Purpose of the special session is to solve the highway construction and maintenance situation in hundreds of participating road districts in Texas by voting on Governor Stevenson's proposed bill, which is slightly different from the original road bond assumption bill, which was defeated in the regular session of the Legislature.

Some predicted the bill would be passed within the week, but several votes were taken and it was finally decided to bring the bill before both houses next week. It was then forecast that the measure, in some form, would be passed within thirty days.

The Henry G. Lehman bill was considered and the plan was to begin debate Thursday on this measure. This bill is very much like the one introduced in the Senate by Olan Van Zandt and would appropriate one fourth the proceeds of the State gasoline tax to carry out provisions of the act of 1939, which the Attorney General has ruled is still in effect, except the provision which devoted about $12,000,000 of the proceeds of the gasoline tax to its functioning. Enactment of the Lehman bill or Van Zandt bill, it was said, would set the favorite law of the County Judges Association into operation again. The appropriations committee voted against the Lehman bill. Now it will have to be taken up on minority report.

Sponsors Union Church Services Are Appreciative

All of those who contributed to the success of the Union Services held by four McKinney Churches on the lawn of the J. H. Hill (Central) Ward School this Summer are thanked most sincerely by Dr. R. L. Cowan, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and President of the McKinney Pastors Association, which sponsored the Union meetings. He said Tuesday that the services held on twelve consecutive Sunday nights were successful in every way and that he felt that great good was accomplished.

He expressed his appreciation of the work done on the school grounds by Jimmie Dale, Roger Duke and the Lee Elliott Lumber Company and also the School Board for allowing the meetings to be held on the J. H. Hill (Central) Ward School grounds; the County Commissioners for furnishing bridge timbers used in making the seats for the congregation, the Texas Power & Light Company, the local press for the splendid publicity given to all of the meetings, before and after they were held, and everyone else who had contributed in any way toward the success of the services.

Participating in the series of twelve Sunday evening services, which started the fourth Sunday in June and ended with the service Sunday night, September 7, were the following churches: First Methodist, of which Rev. Earl J. Patton is Pastor; First Christian, Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, Pastor, and Rev. James Moudy, Assistant Pastor; First Presbyterian Church, Dr. R. L. Cowan, Pastor, and the Central Presbyterian Church, Rev. Richard S. Klein, Pastor.

This office had a pleasant visit from Joe D. Newsome of Wylie, a young barber of that city for the past sixteen or seventeen years. Mr. Newsome is a young man of most pleasing address and this Editor appreciated his visit very much, as we were acquainted with many of the old-timers of that section.

Eight lettermen have reported for practice, around which this year's team is being built, according to Coach McMurry. The lettermen are James Carter, Jewel Craft, Roy Cook, Ray Hamilton, Terry Heathington, Tom McClure, George Wood and Ross Orenduff. The ninth letterman, who was expected to prove a star this year, James Cain, suffered a broken leg recently when he was run over by a tractor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cain, of the Rowlett Community. He is improving at the City Hospital, but of course will not be able to play this season.

Reds Claim Nazi Army In Flight; Pact Discussed

The sinking of the American freighter Steel Seafarer in the Red Sea was a deliberate attack on an unarmed and unconvoyed vessel flying the American flag and it was impossible to mistake the ship for one of any other nationality, according to a member of the crew of the sunken merchantman, who was rescued with others by a British warship. The sailor made this statement when he and 23 others were landed at a British Red Sea port Tuesday night. The Seafarer was bombed from the air at 11:38 p. m. last Friday, this crew member said, and sank within twenty minutes.

Red Army In Offensive.

A Moscow dispatch Wednesday morning reported that a German field army was in head-long flight before the terrific offensive of the Red Army and the Russians now have hopes of recapturing Smolensk. The Soviet communique claimed the Red Air force was blasting the nazi invaders from near Leningrad to Odessa. This was the first time the Russians had used the term "offensive." They had previously only claimed to be making "counter-attacks."

With the world war situation growing more tense every day, the world awaits with keenest interest the radio broadcast by President Roosevelt Thursday night, in which it was said he will outline America's foreign policy, especially with reference to freedom of the seas for American shipping. He will be heard at 8 o'clock p. m., (McKinney time.)

Approval of recent negotiations with the United States was announced by the Japanese Privy Council and formal announcement of the completion of a new pact between the two nations is expected this week, a dispatch from Shanghai stated Wednesday morning.

German Government Issues Warning.

The German government Tuesday issued a warning to ships of all nationalities to keep out of the nazi-declared war zones or they would be subject to attack. The warning, issued from Berlin indicated that the freighter Seafarer was sunk by either a German or Italian bomber, but it was denied that an order had been issued to attack all American ships.

The State Department at Washington announced Tuesday night that the steamship Sessa, flying the flag of Panama but American-owned, was sunk by a torpedo August 17 about 300 miles Southwest of Iceland and all but three of its crew were believed lost. There was one American in the crew. This makes three American-owned ships sunk since the start of World War No. 2. Secretary Hull told newsmen that there was no doubt of the nationality of the ship that fired the torpedo. The Sessa was sunk in the territory where the skirmish occurred between the submarine and the American destroyer Greer.

Miss Tobis Morris of Dallas is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. C. Clifton, in this city.

Jaycees Will Sponsor Fair Booster Trips

McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce members, at their Tuesday noonday meeting, made plans for sponsoring two one-day booster trips, advertising the Collin County Free Fair to be held in McKinney September 23, 24, 25, and 26. President Marvin Collins named the following committees to have charge of the trips:

Itinerary Committee: R. P. Jones, Chairman; Clyde Doyle and Earl Walker.

Transportation Committee: A. M. Scott, Jr., Dr. M. S. Minton and Carlos Pruett.

Program: Jim Cantrell, Chairman; Stewart Jernigan and Emmett Dobbs.

Following their usual custom the Jaycees plan to enlist as many McKinney people as possible in making these trips, which will be day trips, to be made Tuesday and Thursday of next week, September 16 and 18.

The McKinney High School Band is expected to go along and provide music. At each place visited, speakers will tell their hearers of the approaching Free Fair, and urge their attendance and also their entry of exhibits to compete for the cash awards, offered by the Free Fair Association, made possible by the donations of McKinney business men.

All sections of the County will be visited by the Free Fair Boosters, says President Collins, and a large turnout of Collin County citizens is desired at each place to be visited.

At least eighteen communities and towns in Collin County will be told about the Collin County Free Fair, to be held in McKinney September 23, 24, 25 and 26, when the McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsors two full-day booster trips two days of next week, Tuesday, September 16 and Thursday, September 18.

The itinerary for the two days booster campaign has been announced by R. P. Jones, Clyde Doyle and Earl Walker, who were appointed by President Marvin Collin to comprise the Itinerary Committee during the regular meeting of the Jaycees Tuesday. This Committee and the others appointed immediately got into action and the young business and professional men of McKinney plan to take the county by storm when their motorcade makes the rounds of the county next week. The Jaycees hope to not only induce them attend the Fair, but to enter exhibits as well and compete for the valuable prizes offered by the Free Fair Association through the financial assistance of the merchants of McKinney.

Schedule Announced.

On the first day's jaunt, the boosters will visit Princeton, Farmersville, Nevada, Lavon, Wylie, Murphy, Plano and Allen, in the Southern and Eastern sections of Collin County. Thursday, the second day, they will tour Northern and Western Collin, making stops at Frisco, Prosper, Celina, Weston, Anna, Westminster, Blue Ridge, Valdasta and Melissa and will even cross the Grayson County line and visit Van Alstyne.

A. M. Scott, Jr., Dr. M. S. Minton and Carlos Pruett form the Transportation Committee. They urge all local citizens to join the Fair Boosters' Caravan. The McKinney High School Band will head the Caravan to furnish lively music and inject the holiday spirit into the campaign.

Jim Cantrell, Stewart Jernigan and Emmett Dobbs have been appointed to arrange the Program for both trips. Opening of the 1941 Free Fair is less than two weeks off and President Collins of the Jaycees believe the members of this wide-awake civic organization can do much to increase the exhibits and help to make the Fair a success from the standpoint of attendance and general county-wide interest.

Some cotton coming in. Be more later. Farmers just beginning to pick. Bugs have done their best picking the past ten days. The weather is fine for the bugs to get burned up and blistered. Hope so. Collin County raised some 70,000 bales last year. The knowing ones believe that we will raise 50,000 bales this year. Hope so. The price will be one-fourth better this year, say the knowing ones, than last season. All will admit that King Cotton can do more and promise you less, and do less and get you more than any crop on earth. Shame on you bugs and worms.

WITH THE SOLDIER BOYS.

EVERYONE IS INTERESTED in the soldier boys from Collin and other counties, who are serving their country in various army camps of the nation. Whenever we hear from one of them we are always glad to make acknowledgment and let their many friends know, through the columns of these papers, how they are getting along. And, we're always glad to give recognition when they make a literary contribution. The following explanatory letter from Corporal C. F. McSpadden, Med. Det. 142nd Inf. 36th Division, APO 36, Ragley, La., concerning Private Louis F. Bass, Med. Det. 142nd Inf. 36th Division, APO 36, Ragley, La. should prove interesting:

September 3, 1941.

"Editor
"McKinney Courier-Gazette
"McKinney, Texas.
"Sir:

"Private Louis F. Bass, Medical Detachment, 142nd Infantry, 36th Division has written the following poem and many of us in this outfit have urged Mr. Bass to send it to his home town paper to let the people in his home town know he is still very much in existence.

"Mr. Bass has hesitated to send it in so I have talked him into it. It seems to us, at least some of us, that if the boys are given a little freedom in venting their thoughts that they are relieving to some extent of their feelings. His people have not seen this poem nor will they unless you see fit to publish it in your paper. It is a message home that many of us would send were we given the talents to express our feelings.

"An earlier poem written by this same boy was published Monday of this week in the Fort Worth Star Telegram. But no paper reads quite like the home town paper whether it be a great daily or a small weekly. We have secured Mr. Bass's permission to send you this poem only after arguing with him at some length and we know that he, as well as his people, would be very happy to see it in your periodical.

(Signed) Very truly yours,
C. F. McSpadden, Corporal Med. Det. 142nd Inf. 36th Div. Apo 36, Ragley, La.

Approved:
Louis F. Bass, Private.
Med Det. 142nd Inf. 36th Div. Apo 36, Ragley, La.

The poem follows:

A SELECTEE'S MESSAGE HOME.

Mother, I'm not coming home
When twelve months are through.
Please tell Dad and Bud and Sis
The same as I've told you.

So let's get prepared, what do you say;
And not let your sweet soul fear
Because I'll have to be away
Much longer than a year.

Our job in here is not complete
So I'll have to stay yet longer
And do every possible thing I can
To make our Country stronger.

For you I'll labor long and hard
And fill your heart with joy.
You'll be my mother to the end.
I'll be your Soldier Boy.

Pvt. Louis F. Bass.

Collin Will Be Pushed To Gather 50,000-Bale Crop

Even under the most ideal conditions from now on, Collin County's cotton crop will scarcely total fifty thousand bales this year, in the opinion of Jack McCullough, County Agricultural Agent. Picking is in progress throughout the county.

All of the adverse conditions possible visited this county this Spring and Summer, Agent McCullough said. He calls attention to the excessive rains and the infestation of destructive insects, including the cotton flea hopper, cotton leaf worm, cotton boll worm and boll weevil.

With many cotton farmers cooperating with the Government on the cotton stamp program, Agent McCullough said, the acreage planted to the staple this season is about 15,000 acres less than normal, which also cut down the production.

The cotton crop last year was approximately 70,000 bales.

With the present high price of cotton and with indications for a continued good price, Agent McCullough points out, the farmers of Collin County will likely derive more money from their cotton crop than they did last year.

On the local market Tuesday cotton was being quoted at 16 3-4 cents to 17 1-4 cents per pound, and cotton seed was selling at $50.00 a ton. Farmers usually get an average of about a half ton of seed from each bale. Only a few years ago cotton seed was regarded as worthless. It now adds considerable to a farmer's income.

Miss Mary Miller Buys Fine Farm

Miss Mary Miller, associated with her brother, City Attorney Henry C. Miller, in the Abstract business, having seen so much of this good land, sold, abstracted, etc., has been looking for a bargain in a nice small, well-located farm. Naturally, she called in to see the McKinney Realty Company and they had just exactly what she wanted (And she bought it).

The fine small farm consisted of 44 acres, five miles from McKinney, on the black top road leading from McKinney to Frisco. No waste land, no bad, obnoxious grasses, a good house, barn and electricity. Miss Mary certainly did know her pickin' and picked it. She had the cash and let our client have it. The land belonging to Otis Howard of Fort Worth and the McKinney Realty Company sold it to Mr. Howard some two years ago. Of course, Mr. Howard wouldn't refuse to take a small profit, and he did and Miss Mary will do the same.

The McKinney Realty company, Tom W. Perkins and Frank Blackwell, have had much business with Henry C. Miller and Miss Miller as abstractors and their work is entirely satisfactory.

In his fifth address delivered in Collin County during his visit from Washington, Congressman Sam Rayburn, of Bonham, Speaker of the House, told about 450 farmers and their wives at Plano Monday night that he strongly endorsed President Roosevelt's farm policy and hoped that it would continue to be followed. He declared that every farmer in Texas is benefitted by the broad and liberal program to aid the tillers of the soil.

The distinguished speaker referred briefly to Charles A. Lindbergh, who he sai was an excellent aviator, but under present conditions he did not think the famous flyer should comment on matters he knew so little about.

"In this world crisis," said Mr. Rayburn, "it behooves us all to stick to the task we are acquainted with and do our part to aid the Government and our country."

Congressman Rayburn was introduced by J. T. Horn, former Mayor of Plano and an old friend of the Speaker of many years standing.

J. A. Hughes Of Prosper Pays Us Pleasant Visit

J. A. Hughes, of Prosper, long a citizen and farmer of that section of the county, was in the city Tuesday and dropped by to see us. Mr. Hughes is one of the highly respected and influential citizens in that section of Collin County. He strictly attends to his own affairs, never bothering anyone. When he talks he says something you can depend on what he says. Speaking of the cotton crop, he states that his immediate section of the country will make from one-third to one-half bale per acre; that farmers really expected a bale to the acre, but the insects have hurt the cotton some. The difference in the price and last year will make the crop in dollars and cents bring the farmer more than last year, in Mr. Hughes' opinion. We are always glad to have such good friends as Mr. Hughes pay our office a visit.

So long as time lasts may there be representatives of the House of Haggard."

U. S. Navy Believes Sub That Attacked Destroyer Damaged

The second world war was brought closer to America Thursday when the U. S. Destroyer Greer, with the Stars and Stripes flying, was fired upon by an unidentified submarine about 130 miles West of Iceland. The Destroyer, in command of Lieutenant Commander Hugh Frost, a former Arkansas boy, returned the fire with depth bombs, but whether the submarine was hit or not was not known, the Commander reported to his superior officers in the Navy.

In Washington speculation was rife. Some held that the submarine could not have made a mistake because it was daylight and the American flag was flying. Others thought the Greer was mistaken for a British ship The destroyer was not hit. It was plying the waters designated by President Roosevelt as the American zone and Berlin claims had been warned against entering that zone, which was being patrolled by German U-boats.

German Drive Is Checked.

On the Eastern front in Russia, Moscow reported the German invaders have been checked, and the Red Army has been making violent counterattacks, forcing the nazis backward. At one point, in the vicinity of Kiev, the Ukraine capital, the Russians claimed the Germans were routed and 15,000 men were killed and wounded.

All along the 1,200-mile front, the Soviets claimed, the Red Army was slowly pushing the Germans back and lost ground had been regained. While doing this, it was said, the Russians are "digging in" for a long struggle during the rainy season and winter months to follow. The Russian High Command specifically broadcast Thursday night that the German advances towards Odessa and Leningrad had been difinitely halted.

The Germans admitted the Russians were counterattacking fiercely. But the nazis still claimed mildly that they were "proceeding according to plan."

President Roosevelt, it is said, had opened the money box of the lend-lease fund to the Polish unit which is training in Canada.

Reports from Washington state that 2,863,080 mattresses and 705,000 comforts have been made in forty-six States under the Department of Agriculture's cotton mattress program. Miss Mildred Horton of the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College, and R. T. Price, of the AAA, report that 463,230 mattresses have been delivered to Texas families on August 1. Comfort deliveries were set at 78,048.

Wheels of justice started grinding Monday morning when both the Fifty-Ninth District Court and the County Commissioners Court convened. The first thing on schedule in the District Court, over which Judge Tom Suggs is presiding, was to select the Grand Jury. Then the court began a busy twelve-week term. At 10 o'clock Monday morning, the County Commissioners Court, with County Judge H. H. Neilson presiding, started consideration of the county expenses with the intention of fixing the county tax rate for the coming twelve months. Since early Monday morning the Collin County Court House has been one of the busiest places in McKinney.

PASTURE IS CHEAPEST ROUGHAGE FOR DAIRY COW.

Pasture is the cheapest and best roughage for a dairy cow. E. R. Eudaly, A. and M. College Extension Service dairyman, says September is the time to plant oats, barley or wheat for fall and winter pasture.

Prompted by the request of the secretary of agriculture for increase in milk production, Mr. Eudaly suggests that the coming fall and winter offer an opportunity to farmers "to make a little money producing milk, provided they can keep the cost down." Pasture is the best means of holding down the cost and, currently, "milk is selling for a fair price" he says. Texas cowmen have pasture about as often as they are without it, "and if we don't plant we sure won't have any."

Cows grazing on oats, barley or wheat during the fall and winter will need some hay since the grain pasture will be high in water and low in dry matter. An average Jersey cow needs from 18 to 20 pounds of dry matter daily in the form of roughage. She will eat about 80 pounds of the grain pasture daily, which furnishes the equivalent of 12 to 14 pounds of dry matter. Therefore, the cow will need from two to six pounds of hay daily. If some hay isn't furnished she will develop scours. When this happens she fails to get the full benefit of the grain mixture which is fed at milking time. This lowers milk production, increases the cost and reduces profits.

Mr. Eudaly advises that the protein content of the grain mixture should be 12 to 14 percent when the cows are getting all the pasturage they want, and as a consequence are eating more hay or silage, the protein content should be raised. If the cows are eating as much as 10 pounds of carbonaceous hay, such as cane, and Johnson grass, daily, or 25 pounds of silage, the protein content of the grain mixture should be raised to 16 or 18 per cent, dependent upon the quality of hay.

"Keep the cows producing and help national defense," the dairyman counsels.

RED CROSS READY FOR FALL HURRICANE.

Red Cross chapters in the Southeastern "hurricane" States have completed last-minute preparedness measures to meet any eventualities from fall storms.

Reports from chapters in the section state plans are in readiness for warning, evacuation and emergency relief should the need arise.

Red Cross disaster relief officials said September was the most dangerous "hurricane" month. Records kept by the organization over the past 53 years reveal that a tropical hurricane of major proportions has struck the southeastern states an average of once every two years.

Since 1935, however, there have been no storms falling into this category in the "hurricane" states, it was pointed out. Closest call was in 1938, Red Cross officials said, when a tropical hurricane heading for Florida veered off the West Indies and drove into New England, affecting some 80,000 persons.

During the summer Red Cross chapter disaster committees have been meeting to strengthen their preparedness programs. As in other parts of the country, chapters in this section maintain emergency closets of First Aid Equipment, clothing, etc. An hour-to-hour vigil is kept through the U. S. Weather Bureau during threatening weather.

RUSSIAN PROPAGANDISTS STEAL NAZI THUNDER IN BROADCASTS.

It appears that the Nazis have at last met their match in the propaganda field in the Russians. Long practice at home and abroad has built up a Soviet propaganda machine that vies with the famous Goebbels organization—and has a better sense of humor.

In fact, Russia has, from the outset of hostilities with Germany, beaten the Nazis to the punch. Russian pictures and Russian stories have appealed to both the reading public and editors in this country. But the story of stories concerns the latest radio propaganda stunt that hits the Germans in a vital spot—their own homes.

Russian announcers, speaking in German, are cutting into German radio programs with brief asides that are driving the Nazis wild. The technique is simple. Even the German announcers must sometimes pause for breath, and in these brief intervals the voice of the Russian announcer comes through on the same wave length with the fitting comment, "It's all lies."

To combat this technique, German announcers have speeded up almost four times as fast in the reading of news and comment, and any pause is immediately filled in with blaring band music. But announcers must still breathe, and the Russians continue to slip in their comments.

Like "the little man who wasn't there," the voice will chuckle after a Nazi pep talk and say, "Do you expect people to belive that?' Again, it will break in with the question, "How long are the German people to be Hitler's dupes?" Following extravagant German claims, the voice habitually says, "This fairy tale will be continued tomorrow."

A COMMON ENEMY.

The United States cannot be lulled into a sense of security by Hitler's full-time job on the Russian front, and rightly so, says The New Age. The Russians staged a harder fight from the very first battle than most military men would concede the Russians possibly could do, and it is hoped that they will continue to surprise the world with their ability to resist, so that Hitler will never gain conrol of the Soviet's rich natural resources.

It is the hope of the democracies that Hitler's Russian campaign will be made costly enough so that it will be proved that the Nazis' string of easy victories is finished. But, regardless of the outcome, resistance has reached such a point that Hitler is bound to offer a new peace as soon as the campaign is over or reaches a stalemate.

If the fortunes of war should give Hitler another victory, two notable facts would face the Allies—that there would be no large army left to oppose Germany on the Continent of Europe, and that Hitler would have control of all European supplies, thus easing the blockade. But even though he gains the tools to continue, Hitler will ask for peace. Probably its acceptance will be urged by the same people who have continually said, following each Hitler victory, "He is satisfied. We can make peace with Germany now."

Only after a victory for the democracies can a real peace ever be considered. A great many persons hate Russia as much as they do Hitler, but a majority of the people of the United States also know that Germany is a far greater menace to civilization. Russia is a bit humorous in claiming to be fighting democracy's battle, but Russia also happens to be Britain's ally, and any enemy of Hitler is a friend of the democracies. The majority's belief that Hitler is the man to beat has been the biggest factor in forming this nation's policy, not because the United States is any particular friend of Russia.

MEXICO. IN CHANGE.

There is no reason to question the good faith of Mexico in its new rapprochement with the United States, though the practical effects in the closing of the German consulates in our neighbor republic apparently leave a good deal to be desired, says the Dallas News. Avila Camacho's address Monday in which he ranged his country squarely alongside the anti-Nazi bloc and appealed for Pan-American unity with outlawry of interrepublic war so obviously outlines a policy consonant with the self-interest of Mexico and of any sincere Mexican Government that it can be accepted at face value so far as intent is concerned. But as Curtis Vinson points out in his correspondence from Mexico City, the Nazis are blandly retaining their consular agents and clothing them with diplomatic immunity by the simple device of attaching them to embassy staffs. The Nazi spies and saboteurs are simply switched to another pay roll and remain to spread the germs of disorder. If this situation is widely duplicated in Latin America, it must be looked into for the self-protection of the Western Hemisphere.

For the fact remains that every Pan-American nation, probably not excluding our own, has a substantial Nazi and pro-Nazi element. Much of it has a definite mission to perform. Other parts are willing to co-operate when Der Tag dawns. The United States is probably more free of the infection than most and in the remainder of the hemisphere only determined measures of stern repression and expulsion can free the Latin Americas from the sinister threat of Nazi control.

Avila Camacho more than broadly hinted at a degree of new mutual understanding with the United States on settlement of issues that have created differences between the two nations. What form settlement will take has yet to be disclosed. The best guess is that it will be in very broad concessions from Uncle Sam who will guarantee in addition to furnish materials on which, regardless of any agreement, we can conclude that eventually we will assume a loss. For that matter, without free trade under either Cordell Hull's reciprocal agreements or a revised tariff policy, American losses must be accepted as fait accompli in all export dealing with our neighbors.

President's Aged Mother Called By Death Sunday

Death Claims President's Mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, 86

Living to see her only son elected three times to the office of President of the United States, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, Mother of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, died at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning at her home in Hyde Park. Attending physicians said that her death was due probably to her advanced age. She would have been 87 years old September 21, had she lived.

The President was to have broadcast an important message to the American people and the world Monday night, but he postponed it until Thursday night, when he will be heard at 8 o'clock (McKinney time.)

Mrs. Roosevelt was extremely active for her age. Her health had been excellent and her condition was not considered serious until Saturday night.

The funeral was held Tuesday at Hyde Park, with burial in the family burial ground at that city. Only relatives and very close friends were permitted to attend the funeral.

Although Mrs. Roosevelt had been in perfect health, her son Friday stated that he wanted his Mother to have a thorough physical check-up.

Her greatest joy was her son, whom she referred to occasionally when speaking in public as "my son, the President." Although noted for her extreme energy and activity, she preferred to avoid the limelight, but if she could lend herself on any occasion in a manner to "help Franklin," she usually did.

She had watched her son take command of a country in the depths of depression and lead a fight for domestic recovery perhaps unparalleled in the nation's history. Then she saw him become a spokesman of democracy opposed to the advance of totalitarianism in the world at war.

Once in 1939, when she sailed for Paris, she was asked if she were not afraid of war. She replied:

"I don't know. I suppose so, but if it comes I'll live through it. And if not—" she shrugged and smiled.

Mrs. Roosevelt had been a widow since Dec. 8, 1900.

Although her hair was white and her face showed some signs of her age, she was a handsome woman, retaining much of the singular beauty which had caused friends in her young womanhood to label her and her four sisters the beautiful DeLano sisters.

Rev. Richard S. Klein, new Pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, who arrived here from Monroe City, Indiana, Thursday, delivered the sermon, his subject being "Christians Are Scavangers." McKinney Schools Open 1941-42 Term In City Monday

By DON W. BAGWILL.

Formal opening of the 1941-42 term of the McKinney Public School System Monday morning was marked by a large attendance of eager students and teachers, and interested parents, friends and members of the School Board. At the Boyd Senior High School an appropriate program was given in the Walter B. Wilson Auditorium, with student bodies of both the Senior and Junior High Schools present.

Dedicate Buildings.

Of primary interest in the opening program was formal dedication of the Walter B. Wilson Auditorium and the Gibson Caldwell Gymnasium. Will J. Rhea, member of the McKinney School Board, was the principal speaker, paying tribute to the memory of Mr. Wilson, late Chairman of the Board, and to the present Chairman of the Board, Gibson Caldwell.

Mrs. Walter B. Wilson, widow of the late School Board Chairman and friend of education, was an honored guest.

Seated on the stage of the beautiful auditorium, which seats approximately 1,000 persons, were Superintendent Jack R. Ryan; Mayor Tom W. Perkins, City Commissioners Lyman D. Robinson and J. H. Snapp; Gibson Caldwell, Chairman of the School Board; Jas. H. Merritt, Vice Chairman; Elton Riggs and Will J. Rhea, School Board members; Principals Earl Slaughter and A. A. Alexander of the Senior and Junior High Schools, respectively.

Band Gives Concert.

Preceding the program, Prof. Stewart Jernigan and the McKinney High School Band delighted their large audience with several selections, while Miss Mary Jo Hamilton directed the group in a singsong, with Miss Vera Hayes at the piano. Songs included "The Eyes Of Texas," "God Bless America," and the High School song.

Mayor Tom W. Perkins, longtime friend of the McKinney city schools, was present and by invitation spoke briefly, commending the excellent schools of the city and paying a tribute to those at the head of the school system.

Mayor Perkins and Commissioners Robinson and Snapp were praised by Superintendent Ryan for their interest in the schools.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Rhea, principal speaker, told of the custom of naming McKinney public school buildings and units after some member of the school board or other outstanding and civic-minded citizens. Enumerating the various schools of the city, he paid tribute to the memory of J. W. Webb, J. L. Greer, J. H. Hill, L. A. Scott, and Capt. Boyd, all of whom are now deceased and ir whose memory school buildings in McKinney are named.

He also commended the activity and service of Mrs. H. A. Finch, Sr., former school board member, in whose honor the South Ward School is named.

Pays Tribute To Memory of Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Rhea then related the great interest of the late Walter B. Wilson in the public school system and especially in the new auditorium. A friend of education, who helped many worthy boys and girls in securing an education, it was the unanimous decision of the McKinney School Board, Mr. Rhea said, to name the new auditorium in Mr. Wilson's honor, to perpetuate his memory, as a memorial to the leadership and long service of this outstanding citizen. A plaque will be placed in the auditorium in his honor.

Mr. Caldwell Commended.

In a like manner, Mr. Rhea recounted the activity of Gibson Caldwell in behalf of the schools of the city and said that the board unanimously decided to name the Gymnasium in his honor. Mr. Caldwell is the present Chairman of the Board. His strong qualities of leadership and his interest in education were commended by the speaker. A plaque also will be ordered for the gymnasium, said Mr. Rhea.

Superintendent Jack R. Ryan explained the twelve-grade system, being instituted in the McKinney schools and others throughout the State this year for the first time, and then told of some of the additional work to be done that will better equip the students for college work, and for life. He also said that additional credits had been received by the McKinney Schools.

Following the interesting program, students returned to their respective schools for further instructions regarding the year's work and for assignment of work.

Needy Cases Will Be Given Clothing; Assistance Asked

A noble suggestion by Mrs. H. A. Finch, Sr., well-known and highly esteemed McKinney woman, civic and club leader, is expected to bear fruit this fall and winter and other seasons in helping to relieve human want and suffering throughout the city and community.

Knowing that with all the government relief agencies, designed to aid those less fortunate, there is no organization here to collect and dispense discarded, but wearable, clothing, Mrs. Finch began looking about for a suitable place to gather and dispense clothing. Contacting Mrs. Lois Trosclair, Case Worker of the Welfare Department, Mrs. Finch found that Mrs. Trosclair was enthusiastic over the plan and said that she would be glad for her office, over Hope's Hardware Store, to be used as distribution center for this important work.

Those having clothing for men, women or children that is discarded, but serviceable, are urged to bring it by Mrs. Trosclair's office, where she will be glad to dispense it to worthy cases. In event there are those who have no way of getting the clothing to her, they are urged to telephone or contact her, and she will be glad to call for same.

Mrs. Finch recalls that this is the time of the year when many citizens go through their closets, for the purpose of discarding clothing not wanted, and that this will be an excellent opportunity to see that this clothing reaches Mrs. Trosclair's office, to be used for such a worthy purpose.

It is expected that McKinney people will respond generously in this worthwhile program, which will help clothe needy persons.
